Liberty University, Lynchburg, VA

Transforming Special Education in the 21st Century

Keynote Speaker:
Marilyn Friend

Marilyn Friend, Ph.D., has spent her career as a general and special education teacher, teacher educator, and staff developer. She is currently Chair and Professor of Education in the Department of Specialized Education Services at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. She is also President of the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC).

Dr. Friend has consulted with school professionals nationally and internationally. Her areas of interest include collaboration, co-teaching, inclusive school practices, team building, shared problem solving, interpersonal communication, and conflict and controversy. She is the author of multiple books and more than 50 articles on related topics.

The Virginia CEC invites you to join us on November 18, 2011 for the annual Virginia CEC Conference at Liberty University. This conference offers the special education community the opportunity to learn the latest in evidence-based practices and network with other professionals working with children with exceptionalities and their families.

We hope that you will join us for this outstanding event!
